CONGRESSIONAL.

The Fight between the Senate and the President.

TWO RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED.

The Electoral Count Bill Sent Back to the Committee—The House Pays Tribute to the Memory of Hendricks.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Feb 2.—The chair laid before the senate a letter from the secretary of war transmitting the report of Major Jones corps of engineers regarding improvements in Oregon.

Among petitions presented and appropriately referred were several by Frye from local organizations of Knights of Labor of Maine praying that the territory known as Oklahoma be opened to settlers.

Among measures favorably reported from committees was a joint resolution by Blair from the committee on woman suffrage providing for a constitutional amendment extending the right of suffrage to women.

Cockrell stated this was not the unanimous judgment of the committee and that the minority reserved the right to present a written report in opposition to the measure. The joint resolution was placed on the calendar.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE SENATE.

Riddleberger offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That it is the sense of the senate that the executive of the United States is not restricted by constitutional law in removing or suspending appointees, that the senate has no right to require that reasons shall be given for such removal or suspension; that it is the right of the senate to call for any paper relating to the conduct of removed or suspended appointees or to the qualification and fitness of all persons whose names are presented to the senate for confirmation or rejection, and it is the duty of the executive to comply with all demands for the same.

In offering this resolution Riddleberger said his purpose was simply to bring the subject up in open debate. It did not involve any so-called high prerogatives of the senate when it should go into secret or executive session, but only the abstract question as to whether the executive could be called on or required to give reasons for removal. Riddleberger asked for immediate consideration of the resolution.

Cockrell objected.

Pugh said he would submit on the first day or tomorrow a substitute for Riddleberger's resolution. The matter then went over.

VARIOUS MATTERS.

Stanford offered a concurrent resolution which was agreed to providing for investigation by the committees on public buildings of both houses of congress into charges made in 1883, and now being renewed against the official conduct of Sammie Strong during his superintendence of public buildings.

Van Wyck called up his bill, reported favorably from the finance committee, permitting receivers of banks to use such funds of banks as may have been already covered into the treasury, which use may be necessary in order to protect the interests of creditors of the bank. The bill authorizes a receiver to see that bank property about to be sold by order of court shall not be sold for less than its value.

Morgan's resolution regarding trustees provided for in the Edmunds Utah bill was then placed before the senate.

Allison thought it inconsistent with the provisions of the bill named.

Ingalls moved its reference to the judiciary committee.

Morgan contended that according to the precedent set by the bill, every church organization in the United States is liable at any time to have trustees for its management appointed by congress.

Ingalls' motion was agreed to and the resolution was referred.

PUGH'S SUBSTITUTE.

Pugh submitted the substitute already referred to by him to take the place of Riddleberger's resolution and asked that it be printed and lie over till tomorrow. Pugh's substitute was as follows:

First—That executive power is expressly vested by the constitution in the president of the United States, so that he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

Second—That the power of appointment to federal office is an executive power to be exercised by the president under the limitation in the constitution that he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate shall appoint.

Third—That the power of removal or suspension from the powers and duties of a federal office is also an executive power vested exclusively in the president without any such limitation in the constitution as is imposed thereby on the power of appointment and for its exercise he is responsible alone to the people and not to the senate.

Fourth—That the rights of the president to make nominations to the senate and of the senate to advise and consent thereto are each separate and independent rights to be exercised by the president and the senate respectively and separately and independently within their absolute discretion but in relation to the person or persons so nominated, the senate may request information of the president affecting their character or qualifications.

Fifth—That when the president makes nominations to the senate of persons to be appointed by him to exercise the powers and duties of federal officers who have been removed or suspended by him, and no law, public duty or public policy requires that he shall send or communicate to the senate any cause, reason or information within his own knowledge, or contained in any letters, petitions, papers or documents addressed to him or any member of his cabinet or in possession of either and relating to the subject of removals or suspensions, or containing charges, causes or reasons and proof thereof for making such removals or suspensions and no law, public duty or public policy requires or authorizes the senate to call for any information existing in any such form from the president or any member of his cabinet to enable the senate to review or question the merit of their action in exercising his executive discretionary and exclusive power of removing or suspending federal officers from the powers and duties of their offices or to [illegible] the president or to enforce accountability to the senate for anything he may have done in the exercise of such jurisdiction.

Sixth—That while all information considered by either house of congress useful in passing necessary and proper laws, either house [illegible] request the president, if not deemed by him incompatible with the public interest, to give any information within his knowledge, or contained in any public document or records on file in any of the departments and relating to the administration of any public office or the official conduct of any public officer, or acts affecting the [illegible] of any public officer. But [illegible] senate to make such request of the president [illegible] to direct any member of his cabinet to transmit to the senate any information or any public documents or papers to enable the senate in open or executive session to review the propriety of reasons upon which he acted or may have acted in making removals or suspensions would be an attempt to obtain such information by false pretenses and for uses and purposes not authorized or justified by any law or public policy of the United States. And should the president grant such request or require any members of his cabinet to obey such direction from the senate when received by him to be made for such unjustifiable and unlawful uses and purposes would be to recognize and encourage an improper practice and an unjust innovation upon his exclusive and independent rights, powers and duties as president of the United States.

Ingalls gave notice that when the original and substitute resolutions should come up tomorrow he would move to refer them to the committee on privileges and elections for further consideration.

The resolution, according to request, was laid over until tomorrow.

The next bill on the calendar was a bill to permit the United States consul at Warsaw [illegible] to accept certain decorations tendered him by the Russian government. (The consul is [illegible] subject and not an American citizen.) Edmunds opposed the bill and Morgan spoke in its favor. Edmunds would apply [illegible] the [illegible] by his remarks, concluding as follows: "The decoration of an American citizen is his duty well [illegible] and his demeanor toward his fellowmen. That is the only decoration that an American citizen should in my opinion wear."

THE ELECTORAL BILL RECOMMITTED.

The electoral count bill then came up and Evarts took the floor. He favored recommitment of the bill to the committee. He thought a section should be added to the bill making it the duty of the governor of each state under the seal of the state as soon as practicable after final act of the state in electoral appointment to communicate to the United States government the result of that process. This communication should show the names of persons elected or appointed as electors, and what votes had been cast to such persons respectively. Evarts was satisfied if this were done all doubts surrounding the question of counting the votes would disappear, for we should have the highest authority showing the final act of the state in the election.

He criticized the right of congress to submit [illegible] to the supreme court [illegible] He referred to the [illegible] proposed an amendment [illegible] two houses [illegible] failing to elect [illegible] majority required [illegible] the vote of a [illegible] election [illegible] should be had of a person [illegible] from the person who would be elected if the [illegible] that in those emergencies it should be declared that there was no election and that the house of representatives should make a selection as required by the constitution.

Evarts submitted as an amendment that it should be the duty of the executive of each state, as soon as practicable after final ascertainment of the appointment of electors in such state to communicate under seal of the state to the secretary of state of the United States a certificate showing the result of such ascertainment setting forth the names of the electors and other particulars, and deliver to the electors of such state [illegible] such certificates to be transmitted by the electors.

Edmunds opposed the motion to recommit, but it struck him that Evarts's suggested amendment embodied an extremely valuable idea. It could be discussed in the senate, however, as well as in committee.

After further debate the motion to recommit was brought to a vote and resulted yeas 30, nays 2, the affirmative vote being about equally divided between republicans and democrats. All the proposed amendments went with the bill. The Dakota bill was then placed before the senate and Logan maintained the floor, but gave way for an executive session, after which the senate adjourned.

The resolutions of Riddleberger and Pugh as to the relations between the president and the senate will come up for consideration in the morning hour tomorrow and Logan will have the floor at 2 o'clock on the Dakota bill.

SENATE NOTES.

Among bills introduced in the senate today were the following:

By Senator Chase—Supplementary to the civil service act. Its object is to prevent congressmen from selecting or recommending appointments to office.

By Senator Harris—To prevent the introduction of contagious and infectious diseases into the United States, and to establish a bureau of public health. It provides for the establishment in the interior department of a bureau of public health under the management of a commission of health to be appointed by the president from civil life [illegible] national board of health and appropriates $5000 to defray expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of the bill.

By Senator Hale—To authorize the president to appoint a commission of seven experts skilled in investigating production and use of [illegible] metals and other structural materials to execute tests and experiments on iron, steel and other materials [illegible] construction of bridges, buildings and in chemical structures and other useful [illegible].

Senator Blair today reported favorably from the committee on woman suffrage a joint resolution to amend the constitution so as to extend the voting privilege to women.

The attorney general's letter to the senate in respect to the Duskin case was today in executive session referred without further discussion to the judiciary committee, which has authority to report upon it in open session.

The senate confirmed W. H. Brinker associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico.

The secretary of the treasury today submitted his reply to the senate resolution asking if instructions have been issued to the assistant treasurer at New Orleans to refuse to receive silver dollars on deposit and issue certificates thereof, in which he encloses a copy of a report in the matter from the treasurer of the United States. The latter says that no instructions have been given the assistant treasurer which could be construed as interfering with the proper execution of the law requiring the issue of silver certificates to parties depositing standard silver dollars.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Feb 2.—Immediately after the reading of the journal Holman offered the following:

Resolved, That the house has received with profound sorrow intelligence of the death of Thomas A. Hendricks, late vice president of the United States.

Resolved, That the business of the house be suspended in order that the eminent services and private virtues of deceased may be appropriately commemorated.

Resolved, That the clerk of the house be directed to communicate these resolutions to the senate.

Bynum, who represents the district which formerly Hendricks represented in the house of representatives, was the first speaker to pay tribute to the memory of the dead statesman. He traced the life of Hendricks through childhood, youth and manhood, showing in every stage the manifestation of [illegible] which made his name familiar to every household in the land. Hendricks was no ordinary man. He was one of the [illegible] whose [illegible] increased and whose [illegible] became more [illegible] the nearer he was approached. He was an honest man [illegible] He passed through the fiery furnace of public life [illegible] His statue [illegible] He daily practiced the greatest of all virtues, charity.

AN OPPONENT'S TRIBUTE.

[illegible] of Indiana, a political opponent of Mr Hendricks, bore witness to his sterling qualities of head and mind. He was without [illegible] of the Indiana democracy. If he did not formulate its policy he accepted it in good faith. If he did not go before he went well abreast of the party alignment. He went into the thick of the fight, [illegible] his forces [illegible] or in defeat [illegible] their retreat. He was not a political boss. He governed without whip or bridle; he was king but reigned by common consent [illegible] his peers. He was ever true to himself, true to his honor. No temptation beguiled him to wander, no dishonest dollar ever touched the palm of his hand.

Messrs. Kleiner and Holman as representatives of the commonwealth which knew and loved Mr Hendricks best, closed the eulogies with brief addresses descriptive of the public and private virtues of the dead statesman, and then resolutions were unanimously adopted and the house adjourned.

ANOTHER SHOT AT GARLAND

Senator Edmunds Rakes him Over the Coals in Executive Session of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb 2.—Attorney-General Garland, who has been a target for attack during the past week on account of his connection with the Pan Electric telephone company, received a shot from another quarter yesterday. The senate went into executive session about 4:30 and the first business laid before it was the letter of the attorney general to the senate in response to the request of the judiciary committee for information regarding the suspension of George M. Duskin, United States district attorney for the southern district of Alabama, the conduct of his office and the appointment of Mr J. D. Burnett, his successor.

Senator Edmunds said that the letter of the attorney general should be referred to the judiciary committee and that the action of that committee on the letter would be reported in open session of the senate. Edmunds is always [illegible] particular [illegible] in regard to business transactions in executive session. [illegible] senators of both parties [illegible] suspected of having made public [illegible] proceedings and he did not hesitate to say to the senate why he opposed the public executive action of a committee of that body in matters regarding the confirmation of this nomination. In a [illegible] but severe manner he hauled Attorney General Garland over the coals for having given to the public his letter in reply to an executive communication of the senate. He maintained that it was a breach of etiquette for the department to [illegible] and that there was less excuse for such gross violation of courtesy on the part of an officer who had at one time been a member of the senate but who was thoroughly informed regarding the customs of that body. The head of the department of justice had seen fit to make his communication public, and Edmunds held that the senate should make its reply to Attorney General Garland, if the judiciary committee should see fit to make any reply or report upon the subject matter of his letter, also public.

Mr Edmunds's motion went over for the day under the rules, objection being made by a democratic senator.

It was understood that Attorney General Garland denies that this letter was made public from the department of justice. He says that only three persons in the department knew about it—himself, Solicitor General Goode, and the chief clerk, who copied the letter, and he is confident that neither of these gentlemen gave it out.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS NOTES

[illegible] WORKS [illegible] THE COAST.

WASHINGTON, Feb 2.—The rapid decrease in the supply of salmon in the Columbia and Sacramento rivers and other northern Pacific coast rivers is calling to active interest of Professor Baird, fish commissioner, and appropriations have been asked to enable him to establish extensive salmon hatcheries at convenient points to replenish the supply. This would have been done by the commissioner before but for doubt as to his authority under the existing law, which provides for the introduction of food fishes, and as Baird construes the law, not for replenishing depleted stock. This bill is designed to revive one of the most important industries of the Pacific coast. Two hundred and twenty thousand dollars is asked for by the commissioner, which will be devoted to restoration of this salmon supply.

THE SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

WASHINGTON, Feb 2.—It is well settled that there will be no report by the finance committee of the senate in regard to silver legislation until after the house of representatives shall have taken some action on the subject. Even the bill which has been offered in regard to the trade dollar will not be reported, and everything will be deferred until the house shall have had an opportunity to express its views upon the silver question. The matter has been talked of in committee and by general consent this course has been determined upon. It is thus intended to place upon the democratic majority in the house responsibility for any action or failure of action upon the subject of silver.

ADVERSE REPORT ORDERED.

WASHINGTON, Feb 2.—The house committee on banking and currency today directed an adverse report to be made on Representative [illegible]'s bill to make share holders in National banks individually liable for debts of the bank.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES

The Queen Exacts Definite Pledges from Gladstone.

THE IRISH POWER INCREASES

Terrible Experience of an American Ship Captain—The Polish Policy of Bismarck—Marriage of Miss Gladstone.

LONDON, Feb 2.—Gladstone returned to London at [illegible] o'clock last evening. He submitted to the queen and the queen accepted his cabinet. It is certain that at least two of the members selected are not satisfied with the positions which have been allotted them and will refuse to serve. The queen has asserted her latent power and the situation as it develops distinctly proves that the [illegible] and premier are those of minister and [illegible]. Her majesty accepts Gladstone on certain conditions. If he complies with these conditions he may lead the government; otherwise political chaos will come again.

The queen's firmness on Friday when she made it distinctly understood that she preferred abdication to Gladstone without definite promises [illegible] Sir Henry Ponsonby [illegible] that any undertaking tainted with separatist legislation would not be accepted. There is excellent authority for saying that [illegible] was so fearful of the result of her [illegible] Goschen [illegible] Gladstone. A special train awaited him all day [illegible] with Lord Hartington [illegible] it would be best to allow Gladstone to be summoned without the [illegible] influences which her majesty apparently [illegible] This explains Sir Henry Ponsonby's [illegible] to call on Gladstone.

The position which the queen has assumed [illegible] the crisis is regarded as being strictly constitutional but it imparts to the people a sad [illegible] that the crown is still an important [illegible] in British politics. The new government is plainly regarded as a [illegible] between the empire and the Irish [illegible] One may live but one shall [illegible] and submerge it. It will certainly be short lived.

AN IRISH FARMER [illegible]

The great [illegible] result of the division in the commons is that if a fresh election takes place on the Irish question the vote of the British farmer and British laborer has been secured for the Irish national party. [illegible] practically meant that something should be immediately done for the benefit of British farmers. Great Britain returned at the last election [illegible] members who are those representative of the farmers of England and Scotland but only 141 British members in all voted with Bradlaugh while 7 Irish votes out of a possible 87 were cast in favor of reform. At the [illegible] amendment meant that the British laborer should have a share in [illegible] fair terms as to security and rent, and in favor of this reform only [illegible] British members out of a total of [illegible] voted, the tide of fortune being turned decisively in favor of the laborers by the Irish 72. Facts like these in the hands of Mr Gladstone and his colleagues will convert England and Scotland wholesale against the plainly dishonest policy of the [illegible] in danger.

FROM JAMES O'KELLY.

NEW YORK, Feb [illegible]—A dispatch from James O'Kelly says: The tories are sad over the disaster caused by their [illegible] plotting. Their whig allies failed them and the queen failed them [illegible] to send for Lord Hartington. Her majesty hates Mr Gladstone who would like to send Mr Parnell to the tower, but she is anxious that the Prince of Wales shall have a throne to [illegible] for her majesty sent for the [illegible]

Mr O'Kelly regards the defeat of the tories on Collings's amendment as fatal to the chances of success at the next election and after alluding to the strength of the agrarian reformers in England, Scotland and Wales, says that it is this element in English politics combined with the Irish representatives and the [illegible] radicals which will control parliament in the immediate future.

[illegible] of the English [illegible] announces to his tenants [illegible] in rents varying from 15 to 30 per cent. It is an ominous incident. Evidently the [illegible] of his coat [illegible] This fall is [illegible] It [illegible] to [illegible] land and the working farming class [illegible] Britain and enable them to utterly destroy the [illegible] of the landholding [illegible] represented by Lord Hartington and Mr Goschen.

POLITICAL POINTS.

LONDON, Feb 2.—The court circular announces that Mr Gladstone in an interview with the queen on Monday was appointed prime minister. Mr Gladstone [illegible] the queen's invitation to stay at Windsor until Wednesday.

He advised Mr Gladstone to [illegible] and disorder in Ireland by assisting [illegible] peasants with government funds and protecting them from eviction until a bill was [illegible] passed to buy out the landlords. He urged Irishmen to remain peaceful while there was a chance of Mr Gladstone making efforts in behalf of Irish nationality.

PERILS OF THE SEA

The Terrible Experience of Capt. Clark of the American Ship Frank N. Thayer.

LONDON, Feb 2.—Capt. Clark of the American ship Frank N. Thayer has arrived at [illegible] on the [illegible] steamer by which he was picked up at sea. He relates that the Thayer was bound for England with a mixed crew including two Manilla seamen. These two men stole upon deck one night and armed with knives lashed to poles, attacked two officers, killing them instantly. Three sailors, the only ones on deck, were quickly despatched. Captain Clark hearing the shrieks of the crew rushed on deck in his nightshirt. The Manillamen [illegible] him terribly and he barely escaped with his life. After a desperate struggle he broke away from his assailants and rushing to his cabin locked himself in. The manillans battened down the hatches and kept the captain and crew below deck [illegible] day and night. The captain finally fired through the skylight at one of the mutineers and wounded him in the thigh. The man rushed [illegible] the side of the vessel and jumped over[board]. The other mutineer then went [illegible] fired the cargo and returning to the deck [illegible] into the sea. Terrified to madness the [illegible] worked their way on deck and lowered [illegible] away. The ship was consumed. The crew wandered at sea for a week before being [illegible].

FRANCE

[illegible] AN [illegible] NOBLEMAN.

PARIS, Feb [illegible]—Baron Artaud Haussmann has been arrested charged with having attempted to murder Count Montozan at the hotel [illegible] in this city. The struggle between the two men was very savage, the prisoner having [illegible] Montozan [illegible] besides shooting him twice and stabbing him once. Both noblemen are very rich and their quarrel originated in rivalry between them for a woman. The wounded man may possibly recover.

The prisoner is a nephew of Baron Georges Haussmann the famous administrator of public works [illegible] The [illegible] was [illegible] in financial matters [illegible] to be insane.

Montozan was engaged in financial pursuits. GERMANY.

BISMARCK'S POLISH POLICY.

BERLIN, Feb 2.—The Polish policy of Prince Bismarck, as announced in the landtag, has produced general excitement throughout Germany and Austria. The immense [illegible]brinski estate containing about 200,000 acres, one of the largest estates in Prussia, is offered for sale next April as a result of expulsion of Poles. Inhabitants of the estate have for years been mainly Poles and the effect of expulsion by forcibly removing the peasantry and depriving the estate of its resources, has [illegible] upon the market.

Prince Bismarck's announced policy of purchasing for the crown all the real estate owned by Polish nobles and gentry in Prussia, for resale to German colonists, is opportune for the proprietors of the [illegible]brinski lands, for at any ordinary sale the property must have gone at bankrupt prices. Bismarck has not intended to take advantage of the expulsion to buy land in Posen cheap, but means to pay fairly for it, and his funding [illegible] values by assuming a [illegible]

Addresses of sympathy have been sent to Bismarck by Germans in every part of the empire, and many have already reached him from people in Austria and especially from Bohemia. The German [illegible] the Austrian reichsrath headed by the German national deputy Herr [illegible] has also signed a similar memorial of congratulation. The Austrian German [illegible] of Vienna however [illegible] denounce the German chancellor for his treatment of Poles.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

DEMENT MAKES A GENERAL DENIAL.

WASHINGTON, Feb 2.—Surveyor General Dement of Utah was examined by the senate committee on public lands today with reference to the recent publications which embodied alleged utterances of his implicating senators, members of congress and high executive officials in Washington and in Utah in an extensive conspiracy to misappropriate the lands for their own benefit and a conspiracy to influence by bribery legislation affecting Mormons. Dement denied the statements attributed to him without reservation.

He said he had never stated that he took four-fifths [illegible] of Utah and did not in fact make them. He did not state that 50 per cent of the land entries were fraudulent. He made no statement about mineral lands being entered as homesteads. He did not state that there was a ring including all the officials from the governor down. He had made no discovery to warrant any such statement. He had discovered nothing which would implicate Governor Murray or any other official in Utah in frauds. He never stated that any West[ern] republican senator received $25,000 for opposing the Edmunds bill nor that several democratic members of the house had received several thousand dollars for services of the same sort.

The newspaper men who sent out the interviews with Surveyor General Dement of Utah recently [illegible] the public lands committee of the senate to grant them a hearing in order that they [illegible] themselves and give the source of their information.

McCLELLAN HALLECK AND GRANT.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb [illegible]—Press Washington special: The now famous telegrams said to have passed between Gen. McClellan and Gen. Halleck just subsequent to the surrender of Fort Donelson which were published a few days ago were [illegible] to Gen. Frederick T. Grant [illegible] of Gen. Grant and member of his staff. He said: "I have no desire to enter the controversy but will say that those telegrams as published are substantially correct. I cannot give their dates, but it was done not long after the surrender of Donelson. The telegram of McClellan was substantially as given. I do not think [illegible] answered on the same day but when he did answer the telegram contained the other matter. The closing words of the dispatch were as follows: [illegible] telegram [illegible] don't know [illegible] the rear of his army drunk."

WASHINGTON NOTES.

WASHINGTON, Feb 2.—Jan Theodore S. West, of Wisconsin, has been appointed special agent of the treasury department for the Fourteenth district comprising the states of California and Oregon and the territories of Washington, Idaho [illegible] with headquarters at San Francisco.

The committee on expenditures in the department of justice will on Thursday begin investigation of the telephone cases as authorized by the house of representatives.

Commander-in-Chief Burdette, of the Grand Army of the Republic, telegraphed this evening to Commander R. H. Warfield, San Francisco, that the national encampment of the G. A. R. will be held in San Francisco Tuesday, August 3, 1886.

DEATH OF GEN HUNTER.

WASHINGTON, Feb 2.—Gen David Hunter, U. S. A., retired, died suddenly this afternoon at his residence in this city. He was in his usual good health this morning and made several visits down town during the afternoon. On returning he complained of pain in his abdomen and had to be assisted to bed. He died in a few minutes. He was a veteran of the Mexican war and also served with distinction in the late war. He was retired in 1866 after being severely wounded in several engagements. He was president of the military court that tried Mrs Surratt.

THE BEAR GOING NORTH.

WASHINGTON, Feb 2.—A dispatch received here this city from Callao says that the Bear, now on her way to San Francisco, left three days ago and will arrive in three weeks at the Golden Gate. She is designed as a revenue marine cutter to cruise around Seal islands next spring and summer to prevent any unlawful action there. She is the largest vessel now in that branch of the government service, and is especially adapted for Alaska [illegible] stations.

THE KILLING OF CAPT CRAWFORD.

WASHINGTON, Feb 2.—The department of state has ordered an investigation to be made of the circumstances attending the killing of Capt. Crawford in the 4th inst. by Mexican troops.

NOMINATION.

WASHINGTON, Feb 2.—The president has sent the following nomination to the senate: [illegible] of Illinois to be associate justice of the supreme court of Wyoming.

I do not like thee, Dr. Fell,

The reason why I cannot tell.

It has often been wondered at the bad odor this old-noted doctor was in. The probably because he being one of the old-school doctors made up pills as large as bullets which nothing but an ostrich could bolt without nausea. Hence the aversion. Dr R. V. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" are sugar coated and no larger than bird shot and are quick to do their work. For all derangements of the liver, bowels and stomach they are specific.

HYDROPHOBIA PATIENT KILLED.

Disastrous Train Collision—Schaefer Challenges Vignaux—Racing at New Orleans—Notes from the National Capital.

NEW YORK, Feb 2.—The Tribune says editorially: The house of representatives has acted without deliberation in ordering an investigation of the telephone scandal. The resolutions passed by unanimous consent do not meet the requirements of the case. What the country is anxious to learn is whether that stock was distributed with a view to securing the official influence and active co-operation of those receiving it. About the time when the enterprise was started a bill in the interest of the Pan Electric speculators was reported back from the committee on patents to the house, passed and sent to the senate. Was this result effected largely through the instrumentality of those who were financially interested in the Pan Electric telephone "scheme"? And when the measure was before the senate committee on patents were any corruptionists at work on this body to effect favorable action upon that measure? Is it true that the department of justice was worked in the interest of the attorney general's business associates? Is it also true that the head of the department of the interior is a large stockholder? Who will profit by the success of the litigation recommended by the secretary? Have two departments of the government had recourse to extraordinary and unwarrantable expedients for progressing private interests and enriching a ring of speculative statesmen? These are questions which neither the house of representatives nor the senate can afford to leave unanswered.

THE TIMES SPEAKS.

For the first time of late the Times notices the Pan Electric scandal and says editorially: Garland and Harris should do something to clear themselves by publicly purging their Pan Electric stock but congressional censure would add a deserved and wholesome public rebuke to the prickings of their private consciences.

Senator Vance sends an indignant letter to the World denying everything published that connects his name with the Pan Electric telephone scandal. He says: "Whether or not it be a crime for a senator to purchase stock in this company the truth is I did not. In no conceivable way, shape or form have I had any connection with this company."

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

ANOTHER COLD WAVE.

CHICAGO, Feb [illegible]—The mercury dropped below zero here again last night, the signal service reporting the minimum at four below, though private observations made it from ten to twelve degrees below. The weather is reported very cold throughout Minnesota, Dakota and Manitoba, the mercury dropping to sixteen below at St. Paul and forty-eight below at Minnedosa on the Northern Pacific railway.

GALVESTON, Feb 2.—Meager intelligence from northern Texas up to midnight reports a heavy snowstorm prevailing over Indian territory and extending south and west into Texas. At Eufaula station, on the Missouri Pacific about midway north and south in the Indian nation snow was five inches deep at sundown. Trains from the north are delayed and telegraphic communication is interrupted. Harrold reports a snowing in the Pan Handle country and that great suffering and loss among stock would follow. The extent of the storm throughout Texas will probably not be known for a couple of days. It is blustering and falling here but no cold wave comparable to the January blizzard has yet reached Galveston.

CLERGYMEN AND THE LABOR QUESTION.

NEW YORK, Feb 2.—The outspoken way in which some of the proverbially conservative Episcopal clergy are dealing with the labor problem in their pulpits is beginning to attract attention. Foremost among these are Rev. Dr Rylance, rector of St. Mark's, and Rev. R. Heber Newton. The former declares that the socialist movement in England to get rid of the doctrine of monarchy and hereditary honors and emoluments is profoundly [illegible] capital in this country he says there is but one effectual remedy [illegible] and that is that the latter should give larger percentages of its profits to the laborer. He is also in favor of co-operation. Newton is in favor not only of throwing open libraries and museums on Sundays to the working classes but of giving them also a Saturday half holiday. Both these clergymen wield a large influence with their respective spheres. Their example is likely to have many followers.

WHY LORILLARD RETIRED.

BOSTON, Feb 2.—The Herald's New York correspondent says: Pierre Lorillard, whose retirement from the turf has been the talk of sporting circles, says his action was precipitated by the fact that all plans to drive professional gamblers from the race course of this neighborhood have failed. "So long as horse racing was recreation for gentlemen I was fond of it," he explained. "But I can find no pleasure in competing or associating with the business of gamblers."

THE ERIE CANAL.

ALBANY, Feb 2.—The joint canal committee of the state legislature met to-day, and listened to arguments on the question of deepening the Erie canal and lengthening the locks and whether it should be done by the state, or the federal government be asked to do it. All the speakers favored the Weber bill, now pending in congress to reimburse the state to the extent of $5,000,000, but all opposed selling or turning over the canal to the government.

GERONIMO SURRENDERS.

EL PASO, Texas, Feb 2.—Major Robinson army paymaster, received a dispatch from Fort [illegible] N. M. to-day, which stated that a courier just arrived there brought a message from Long's ranch which contained information of the unconditional surrender of the Apache chief Geronimo to Lieut. Maus, who succeeded the late Capt. Crawford.

PROTECTIVE DUTIES ADVOCATED.

A CHALLENGE FROM SCHAEFER.

NEW YORK, Feb 2.—Jacob Schaefer, the billiard expert, to-day issued the following:

Mr Maurice Vignaux's backer, Mr John Dowling, having declined to make good the challenge to me to play Maurice Vignaux a return match after such challenge had been duly accepted by me and my backer, I hereby announce my willingness to play Mr Vignaux or any other man in the world, a match game of 3000 points at 14 inch balk line, for $5000 a side, under the express condition that the winner shall take all receipts and the loser pay all expenses incident to the match. I prefer Vignaux as an opponent and should he or his backer be unable to secure $5,000 stake money to wager I am willing to play for $1000 a side with the same binding condition that the winner shall take all the receipts and the loser pay all the expenses.

JACOB SCHAEFER.

ACCIDENTS.

DISASTROUS TRAIN COLLISION.

STAUNTON, Va., Feb [illegible]—A disastrous collision occurred on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad here at 1 o'clock this morning. The night express ran into a freight train on a siding and completely wrecked both engines. Fireman Gittings of Richmond was killed, his body being terribly scalded and mutilated. Lowry, engineer, had his throat cut and his arm scalded. His condition is dangerous. Charles Smalts, engineer of the freight, had his back badly sprained and his body bruised. The only passenger hurt was D. Lafferty, of Richmond, who was standing in the sleeping car and was knocked down and bruised, but not seriously. The accident was caused by criminal negligence. The freight train was on the side track waiting the arrival of the express. The conductor told the brakeman, Samuel Vine, that when the express passed he should turn the switch. Vine went to sleep and was aroused by the passing freight train. He changed the switch just as the express came in sight, and before the fatal error was discovered the train dashed on the siding, and the engines locked the two boilers being jammed together.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A HYDROPHOBIA PATIENT SMOTHERED.

ALBANY, Feb [illegible]—Press and Knickerbocker special from Cohoes: George Waterhouse, a boy 11 years of age, some six years ago was bitten by a dog in Lansingburgh. For the past week the boy has shown signs of hydrophobia. His condition became alarming and a physician was called in and administered all the medicines usually used in such cases, but to-night it was deemed advisable to smother him.

MURDER CASE POSTPONED.

ST. LOUIS, Feb 2.—The case of Cho Goom Chinese highbinder was postponed to-day until to-morrow.

TERRITORIAL LEGISLATURE.

ST. HELENS COUNTY.

OLYMPIA, Feb 1.—This afternoon Mr Reavis was called to the chair, the president being unwell, and H. B. 188 to create and organize the county of St. Helens was taken up.

Neal—"This bill has been before this honorable body for some time and they have had every opportunity to examine it as to its merits, therefore I hardly deem it necessary to say anything on the subject of its passage or defeat. Yet, in order to make some things plain which now appear somewhat dark I might state that a mass meeting was held a short time since in Vancouver at which a number of resolutions touching on this subject were adopted." (The clerk, by request, read the resolutions.) The gentleman then went on to state that the number of persons petitioning for dismemberment was about 700 while those remonstrating amounted to about 1800. It is claimed by the petitioners that the 1800 persons have no right to be heard on this matter of vital importance to them. Such doctrine he considered highly undemocratic and it should be ignored. This was the very same doctrine that deluged the country in blood in 1861. 1. He believed the taxpayers of Clarke and Skamania counties have a right to be heard on this subject. 2. The question of division was not made an issue in the last election. Had it been he was satisfied the gentleman in the lower house (Mr. Lindsley) could never have been elected a representative. The matter had been kept a profound secret from the time of the election until now. He asked: "Why did the gentleman not make it known until the legislature was in session?" A mass meeting was called during the holidays in the city of Vancouver and nothing was then broached as to the dismemberment of Clarke county and both representatives were present on that occasion. Parties have not had a fair deal in this matter. In examining the map of Clarke county it was found to consist of fifteen townships. By the passage of this bill Clarke county would be cut down to less than seven little townships. This would leave Clarke county completely destitute and at the mercy of the most insignificant. He hoped the council would join him in defeating the measure.

Mr Isaacs considered that to refuse to pass the bill was only a way of keeping the minority in a state of slavery. One of the reasons why he thought the bill should pass was that this part of Clarke county had been without representation for years, and he wanted all to be on an equality.

After several remarks from Messrs McReavy, Young and Jacobs, the bill was declared lost on final passage.

BROWNSVILLE ITEMS.

BROWNSVILLE, Or., Feb 1.

Mr J. Jaskulek, once a resident of this place but now a substantial citizen of Roseburg, is here on a short visit.

Two days of steady rain, and creeks all up and logs running lively in the Calapooia.

The grass is the finest for years and fall grain never looked better in this section.

Messrs Robinson & West of Albany have got a large drive down below town in good shape.

Young Mr Janason, of the Oregon & California railroad, is at home on a short visit to his parents.

Mr Clayborn Hill, an old pioneer who has been sick for several months near here, is getting worse and it is feared cannot recover.

Mrs C. Sperry is very poorly of late, caused by a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. Mrs [illegible] Hagan is also very sick.

A revival meeting has just commenced at the Presbyterian church on the south side conducted by Rev. Mr Forbes of Albina, and the meetings well attended.

Mr W. T. Cochran and wife left here last week on a trip to California via Portland. Mrs C.'s health is very poor and is failing fast, and this trip is for a change of climate for her benefit.

There is rumor of a large tailoring establishment being started here to work in connection with the woolen mills to manufacture clothing. As rents and expenses of living are very cheap and the mills of the company located here the plan will no doubt be a good one and ought to be inaugurated at once.

The coyotes are getting very troublesome in this locality. Last Friday the hunters and hounds met on Lone Tree butte, near here, but failed to get any of them. A few mornings ago in broad daylight Mr Andy Kirk, near here, had several lambs killed by coyotes and gave chase, but they got away into the hills and escaped.

Josiah Davis's Trouble.

Josiah Davis, North Middleton, Ky., writes: "I am now using a box of your HENRY'S CARBOLIC SALVE upon an ulcer, which for the past ten days has given me great pain. This salve is the only remedy I have found that has given me any ease. My ulcer was caused by varicose veins and was pronounced incurable by medical doctors. I find, however, that HENRY'S CARBOLIC SALVE is affecting a cure." Beware of imitations.

Ruined by Chinese Cheap Labor.

Chicago Tribune.

The faro banks of Chicago run by white men are said to be in full blast night and day, but the police seem to think their efforts for the suppression of the vice of gaming are sufficient when they arrest the almond eyed players of bung-loo. Twenty-seven Chinamen were fined yesterday for engaging in this soul-destroying diversion.

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, FEB 3, 1886.

THE LESSONS OF HARD TIMES.

Just as adversity may benefit an individual, so hard times may benefit a country. And the advantage is not diminished because during the periods of stress it is not seen. Indeed, if the real nature of the experience were understood its influence and value would to a great extent be lost. While in Oregon we are by no means through with our season of reaction and depression, we are sufficiently along with it to see upon close examination that it has not been without some results likely to have permanent and excellent effect upon the future of the country.

Perhaps the most important consequence of the hard times has been the correction of extravagant habits of living. From early days we have been doing even common things in a costly way. The prodigal customs of the gold era continued the style and fashion of the country long after that era with its general plenty had passed away. The country steadily lived beyond its means, spent more than it earned, making up differences partly through the incoming of capital for investment in railroads, etc., but chiefly by borrowing. Three years ago the balance stood many millions against us, the deficiencies being represented by debts for borrowed money to foreign capitalists and debts to foreign merchants for goods long since consumed. At this time the railroad brought us into relations with the closer business methods and the closer economic practices of the East. Conformity became a necessity, and we have been struggling toward it ever since. While still the average living expense of our people is nearly double that of the people of the Eastern states, we cannot be said to have reformed entirely, but the change has been very great. The results are wonderful. Although during the past three years values of all kinds have been exceptionally low, and nearly every man's income less than formerly, the country has lived within its means and has paid above two millions of dollars of its debt. The process of liquidation has only begun, and it will take at least five years more of close economy to put us even with the world. By that time it is hoped that the country will be disciplined in habits of prudence and economy.

The general industry of the country has been affected greatly and for the better by the hard times. Under the stress of low prices for wheat, farmers are looking for other sources of revenue and this is bringing about a diversified agriculture. In the Willamette valley the wheat field has ceased to be a great source of profit and farmers are turning to the orchard, the dairy, the pasture, the sheep range and the garden. Only a start has been made but it is a beginning of a very much better state of industry, of a condition which must be developed fully before agriculture can ever again be really prosperous. Business methods have been improved too. The machinery of trade is carried on by fewer men at less cost and with lower profits. Economy has been applied to every business establishment from the country crossroads store to the city jobbing house. Certain business men have suffered severely but the painful process will result in ultimate good. To a great extent, business in Oregon and Washington has been conducted without system or upon obsolete principles or by men not trained to close methods. As a natural result it has been very expensive and profits have had to be unnaturally great—all at the cost of consumers. Hard times have forced to the wall many men who have been clogs rather than aids to business, and their places will be supplied by men better able to serve the country. No state can get ahead while its business is in weak and inefficient hands. Low prices for lumber have forced the application of economy to every branch of its manufacture from the logging camp to the finished product, and they have enabled it to seek new markets. Low prices have enabled Oregon fruit to reach the markets of the east.

The social and moral effects of hard times are very important. Seasons of extravagance are times of general vice. Hard times promote industry, frugality and virtue. Anybody who knows the "half world" of Portland well knows how great has been the moral benefit of the hard times here. Extravagance in a hundred social ways dangerous to public well-being has been checked and the community sobered and benefited. Necessity has forced into labor a generation which was growing up with false notions of respectability and with a light view of its responsibilities, and this movement is solving that long vexed and threatening problem—the Chinese question.

Details showing the excellent consequences of hard times, material and social, might be multiplied without number, but it would be useless labor. In ten years the people of Oregon, looking back upon the "great reaction," will regard it as a blessing to the country.

INTERESTING WILL CASE

We are having by telegraph some account of the proceedings in the contest of the "Storey will" at Chicago. Wilbur F. Storey was proprietor of the Chicago Times and creator of the paper. He was a journalist of tremendous energy. But the work necessary to create so great a paper, in the face of intense competition, told rapidly upon his physical and mental powers. The result was softening of the brain and consequent mental imbecility. In this condition he lingered some years, till death overtook him. But the great momentum which he had imparted to the Times carried it right along and it is now even more prosperous than it ever was under his management. It is alleged by contestants of the will that he was not of sound mind when the will was made, but this allegation is resisted by his widow, who is chief devisee, and in whose behalf it is claimed that the will was made before Mr Storey's mind began to give way. The trial has developed some facts about the Chicago Times of considerable interest to newspaper men and the public. They show that in 1862 the cost of publishing the Times was about $70,000 a year, including $11,000 for telegraphic report, which is much less than one half the present cost of publishing THE OREGONIAN. By 1877 the cost of publishing the paper had increased to $525,000, of which $85,000 was paid for telegraphing. This last date was about the end of the proprietor's active career. Publication of the paper now costs from $800,000 to $1,000,000 a year. The Times establishment, without the real estate, has been valued generally during recent years at about $1,000,000, and probably would bring that or nearly that sum. In some years the profits have run as low as $15,000; in other years they have run up nearly to $100,000. Some years before his death Storey began to build a great house at Chicago, and his action in this matter is cited by contestants of the will as proof of his insanity. He began the house when he was $300,000 in debt. The first architect brought in a plan for a $100,000 house. The second architect employed brought in a plan for a $400,000 house, and upon that basis the building was commenced. Storey expended $180,000 on it before his death, and it is now estimated that $300,000 will be required to complete it, or $480,000 altogether. The building was to contain eighty rooms, comprising a theater, a studio and a chapel. In some respects it would be grander than Stewart's or Vanderbilt's. It is covered by a temporary roof and may never be finished. The proceedings in the will case, as telegraphed, look as if the will would be sustained. Ex-Senator Trumbull, counsel for Mrs. Storey, submitted to the court a great many of Mr Storey's letters about the business of the Times, some of them written as late as December, 1881, in which is shown a grasp of the business that would clearly indicate that Mr Storey was then in his right mind. The will antedated those letters for a considerable period. Mr Storey left no descendants. The present Mrs Storey was a second wife, and the chief contestant of the will is a brother of the deceased.

Some years ago Gen. Jeff Davis defeated the Modoc tribe in Southern Oregon and hung their great war chief, Captain Jack. Recently the Ohio river tugboat Modoc blew up and a member of her crew, Jeff. Davis by name, was killed.

MARKETING POULTRY.

The California Cackler, a periodical devoted to the poultry interests of that state voices a complaint against sending chickens to market in crowded, dirty, ill-smelling crates. Chicken coops are chicken coops, the world over, we presume, else we might be constrained to the belief that the description of those of which this complaint is made was given by a person who with eyes open and nostrils unprotected had passed by the typical chicken coop that finds its way to this market. Crowded, thirsty, hungry, lean, miserable birds they are in the main, to be sure, that fill these coops. One glance at them, struggling to reach a dirty platter containing a gill or two of slimy water is enough to take the edge off the sharpest appetite even when whetted for chicken pie by the memory of the savory odors that filled the old kitchen of the old Illinois farmhouse of our childhood.

The idea that chickens belong to the herring family seems to be generally prevalent with shippers. At all events they are packed like sardines, and if the precaution had been taken, as with the sardines to kill them before packing the spectacle presented would not be so pitiful. Trampled, bruised and suffering from thirst most of the poultry that comes to this market is wholly unfit to use directly from the coop. Now, while it is not practicable to send chickens to market in palace cars it is possible to ship them with some regard to the comfort of the fowls and for the stomachs of those who pay from forty to sixty cents apiece for them for the table. The poultry journal mentioned recommends for warm weather a coop made of wire netting, a single wooden frame with the netting stretched over it. This makes an airy coop, and the fowls are easily examined. Another good form of shipment is a large basket bottom, with several broad handles, over which a wire netting, with wide meshes, is placed and fastened with strings or clasps. This can be taken off at will and returned when emptied.

It is worth while to attend to this matter, inasmuch as its neglect is one of the many slatternly methods that bring Oregon markets and Oregon products into discredit. Shippers and farmers are equally to blame for the poor showing that the poultry makes as it comes into this market. The latter for not taking ordinary pains to improve the breed of their fowls and furnish clean, healthy, well-fed chicks for the market and the former for shipping them in clumsy, ill-ventilated coops without any regard to the well-known principle that "no two bodies can occupy the same space at the same time."

IRON AND TRADE.

The best barometer of business is the iron trade. Production and manufacture of iron is the largest of our industries. It is the basis of more industrial activity and of more trade than any other branch of business. In dull times this industry is invariably depressed, but when revival of industry begins, a growing activity in the iron trade is always one of the first signs of it.

Statistics of the iron trade for 1885 are now published by direction of the American Iron and Steel association. They show that production for the year was about 4,500,000 tons—60,000 tons less than in 1884, but at the close of 1884 the stock on hand amounted to 593,000 tons, while January 1 last it was only 416,512 tons. Six months ago the stock on hand was nearly 700,000 tons, so that the activity in sales in the latter half of 1885 must have been much greater than for eighteen months before, at least. This activity, taken in connection with the present comparatively small stock on hand, justifies the belief that the trade will be livelier in 1886 than for several years back. Again, more mills and furnaces are now in operation than for a long time past.

It has often been said of late that production and manufacture of iron in the South was growing at a rate which promised strong competition with the product of the North and speedy reduction of it. The report of the association presents some important information on this point. Production of the leading states during the year 1885 was as follows: Pennsylvania, 2,445,496 tons; Ohio, 553,963 tons; Illinois, 227,977 tons; Alabama, 227,438 tons; Virginia, 163,782 tons; Tennessee, 161,199 tons; New York, 160,157 tons; Michigan, 3,121 tons. Alabama produces less than 10 per cent of Pennsylvania's output, and Alabama and Tennessee together about 13 per cent. of the output of Pennsylvania and Ohio. The growth of the southern output is rapid, but there is little probability that the whole southern states will ever produce as much iron as Pennsylvania alone.

Washington correspondence of the New York Times says that the republicans of the senate are "merely baiting the president." The writer adds:

Two objects are aimed at by the republicans in waging the present controversy. The first of these is to show, or try to show, that President Cleveland is not living up to his professed ideas of civil service reform. Failing in this, the second object is to drive the president into an abandonment of his intention to carry out these ideas. If by delaying confirmations or rejecting nominations outright they can arouse the president's temper and induce him in his anger to say bluntly that he suspended this or that man because he wanted a democrat to have the office they will be satisfied and will have the sort of material they want for the next presidential campaign. Leading republican senators have said that if the president would only tell them that suspensions were made because the officers were republican there would be no trouble whatever about confirming the mass of the president's nominations.

This is very petty business, and will prove, if persisted in, mighty poor politics for the republican party. If the republicans of the senate want to unite and solidify the democratic party, persistence in this line of action will do it.

The Mountain Sentinel reports that up to this time very little feeding has been done by stockmen in Union county. The experience of many years in the Eastern Oregon region has proved that while stock will thrive through the fall and up to midwinter upon the ranges it is necessary to provide good food and shelter during the latter part of winter and the early spring. The season for feeding animals is not nearly so long in any part of Oregon as it is in any of the states east of the Rocky Mountains, but during its continuance the necessity is as great. Having learned this at the cost of valuable herds in the past, Oregon stockmen have grown provident, and with the use of ordinary prudence and exertion readily save themselves from loss through the most trying seasons.

LETTER FROM THE PINE CREEK MINES

ALLENTOWN, Pine Creek Mines, Jan. 20.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

At this point the snow is about four feet in depth, weather foggy, thermometer 28 deg. above zero and not a breath of wind. When it is not snowing the sun comes out warm and it commences to thaw. Apart from the snow the weather is mild and can in no way be compared to the [illegible] and rigorous climate of Leadville. In the valley six miles below here the ground is bare, and at the mines 1000 feet above here the snow is seven feet deep. [illegible] two mines are being worked regularly, the Whitman and Granite mountain by the Kentucky company, which purchased the property last fall, and the Contact on Red mountain three miles north from here by a company of which [illegible] are the principal owners. [illegible] employed at the Whitman and the main at the mine [illegible]. No [illegible] the Contact mine is [illegible] can only be reached at this season on snowshoes. The contractor and miners employed there visit town occasionally and from their statements it appears that the incline shaft has been sunk to a depth of 135 feet at which point a drift is being run to the southeast. The ledge has a uniform width of four and one half to five feet and is in slate with a clay and porphyry gouge varying from two to ten inches in thickness. The part of the ledge lying upon the [illegible] twenty inches in thickness assays something over $800 in silver to the ton with a trace of gold and with occasional bunches of ore running up to $1500 or $8000. Unlike the claims on Granite mountain, the Contact yields free milling ore. At the bottom of the shaft (135 feet) the ledge was four feet wide and gave an average assay of $150 per ton. No report has yet been received from the drift which has been started to the southeast. Should this drift disclose (as is expected) a continuation of the ore developed in the bottom of the shaft the Contact stockholders will rightly consider that they have a very valuable property.

Times are as close here as might be expected, with only about thirty men under pay in a camp of something over 150, but all expect a boom in the spring, and prospecting will be actively resumed as soon as the snow begins to depart.

HIBERNATER.

FOR PROHIBITION.

An Earnest Argument in Answer to an Article Recently Published in "The Oregonian."

FOREST GROVE, Jan. 30, 1886.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In your issue of Jan. 29th "See Bee See" deprecates the formation of a prohibition party and from it prophesies disaster.

I venture to ask him and your other readers to scan closely his line of argument and see its natural bearings on some such questions as these: For what purpose are political parties in a [illegible] formed and what is the aim and mission of the prohibition party in particular?

And first let me give what seems to me a fair summary of "See Bee See's" argument. It is this: First—The plan of prohibiting the liquor traffic is a wholly ideal one unattainable in this age. Second—Intemperance is a many sided evil and the view of prohibitionists that law is all potent to control is entirely erroneous. Third—We must have a public sentiment strong enough to make the law unnecessary before we seek to make such a law. Fourth—It is an injury to the state when any law which is not enforced and fully endorsed by the minds will and reason of the people is placed on the statute books. Fifth—Prohibitionists assume that they are the people. Sixth—The army of the liquor sellers with their adherents will vote against prohibition. Seventh—Nobody to speak of will abandon his previous republican or democratic affiliations for the sake of voting for prohibition.

Besides these points of his own "See Bee See" quotes from Rev. James B. Finch to the effect that there is no need, no place, no reason for third parties in our own government, two parties fulfill all the demands for parties. The final conclusion is that moral influences are the only ones applicable to the case.

Let us notice in detail the positions and logical deductions of the argument which I have thus generalized.

First—Why is there any more idealism in expecting to put under the ban of law the colossal iniquities of the liquor trade—that outrunning those of any other agency,—than there has been in prohibiting any other violation of public rights and public good?

How could any crime ever have been prohibited, how would there ever have been any laws at all, how would society ever have got any organization whatever if people had forever deferred action saying that it was idealistic to hope for any better than their existing state?

How could there ever have been progress at all if people had not been idealistic enough to look beyond the narrow issues of the petty present and discern the sublimer form of an advancing future?

He who in the days of William the Norman anticipated that the common people would ever take part in making English laws was an idealist. Yet not many years after, Runnymede was immortalized by the great charter, and a half century later Earl Simon de Montfort plowed a furrow through the crust of feudalism in which were sown the seeds of the English commons.

He was an idealist who in the time of Pope Alexander VI thought religious tolerance a practical thing.

Yet after the volcanic outflows of the reformation had been spread over the surface of Christendom it was seen that the idealists of the sixteenth century were the realists of the seventeenth.

He was an idealist who fifty years ago expected the fetters of the southern slaves to be recast into the implements of free labor.

Yet beneath the lightnings of civil war the riveted slave shackles were melted like wax, and it was suddenly perceived that those Utopian black abolitionists were the most practical men in the country.

Idealists were they? Then let us thank God for idealism.

Now please notice the fundamental fallacy in this idealism argument against prohibition.

It first begs the whole question by assuming that prohibition is wholly impracticable and then for fear that it may prove otherwise, it urges us not to try it. [illegible] and honest [illegible].

Prohibitionists wish, as practical men to put their theory to the test of popular judgment at the polls and of actual practice in the courts.

If their theory is such a visionary absurdity, it will be proven by the votes of the people. Is it not a little singular that opponents of prohibition should be unwilling to have its alleged impotence demonstrated by a fair trial?

In short, just this argument of the visionary character of prohibition getting worn pretty thin.

If it be so very idealistic let us bury it under the votes of practical men and be able to say that it died a natural death.

Second—We grant with "See Bee See" that intemperance is a many sided evil but we deny that prohibitionists as a party think that a law is going to be all that we need to govern it. In fact, most of the bills for temperance instruction in schools, most of the moral and religious instruction in general throughout the country have been proposed by prohibitionists.

We think that law is the natural conclusion, in our system of government of a popular idea. But that idea is first gained in school, in the lyceum, the newspaper, the church, at the fireside. We cannot exaggerate the need of moral instruction. But there is no political wisdom in leaving our laws to go at loose ends and be all the time nearly [illegible].

The sword of the law must indeed be hammered out on the anvil of public conviction and be tempered [illegible] fierce heat of the popular conscience. But he would be a poor legislator who should infer from this that we need no sword at all.

The third and fourth points I will answer with a single question. Why not apply these same principles to all laws and regulations for the government of society? Where would you be then? Who is the [illegible] now? Is not "See Bee See" more applicable to the [illegible] than to the rough and sinful present?

It is sufficiently evident that we should never have any laws for anything, if we waited till they were not needed before enacting them.

Fifth—It must be admitted that prohibitionists are, like most reformers, an uncomfortable and obstreperous people. It is true that they don't make near as much noise as auctioneers or peddlers but these last are only trying to cheat people out of their money, whereas those noisy reformers are trying to make the world accept an idea for its own good. Their conduct is therefore the more unaccountable and inexcusable.

The great lazy selfish world says: "Go to! You disturb our noonday nap! We are seeking pleasure, gold rather than righteousness. Let us alone!"

But we submit that to "practical" men it would be very "idealistic" to reject measures otherwise worthy of consideration simply because the advocates of those measures were rather egotistic and pugnacious in presenting them.

Sixth point—granted. Notice, however, that the saloonkeepers of the United States number about 100,000 in a nation of 60,000,000. Shall they dictate to the rest?

Seventh—This is the great point to be determined when we come to the polls next June. Don't take for granted what has not yet been tested.

Nevertheless, the point uncovered here is one of moment and we may do well to consider it together with the points made by Rev. Finch by following up this inquiry. Why have parties any existence at all?

We answer that the genesis of a political party in a republican form of government is, first, investigation as to some social, moral or political fact or series of facts in the life of the nation. Second—The formation of opinions as to the best way of dealing with these facts. Third—The embodiment of these opinions in the form of proposed legislation. Fourth—The formulation of a party platform and the presentation of candidates for the votes of the people.

When this last step is taken the period of gestation is past and the party is born into the political world. If I am correct thus far, the next logical inference is that the fact which is most important to the people will be most likely to give rise to public opinions, these will be most likely to be incorporated in the form of proposed laws and these laws will be most likely to become the basis of party platforms and nominations.

If this conclusion is granted let me ask you fellow voters of Oregon, what facts come nearer to us—financially, socially, educationally and morally—than those of the liquor trade? Is it the silver question, the tariff question, the civil service question, the Chinese question, any or all combined, modify our lives, our purses, our taxes, our health, our minds, hearts and souls to the extent that the fact of intemperance does?

Is it, then, illogical or unreasonable to expect that from the thoughts of the masses, concerning this vast and portentous fact, there will be generated opinions which will ultimately seek expression in platforms and candidates?

One step further. Can any reasonable man doubt that the prohibition of the saloon is the only thing that will permanently satisfy the aroused moral sentiment of the nation?

License, taxes and other restrictions may serve a temporary purpose but they can accomplish nothing ultimate. Nothing but the entire abolition of the whole system of indulgences under the Papacy of the sixteenth century could satisfy the awakened conscience of the German people.

Nothing but the total destruction of slavery satisfied the quickened moral sense of this nation. So it is in the nature of things in regard to the liquor trade.

As to Rev. Finch's argument the only logical deduction is that the two parties which happen to have priority of time in the nation should last as long as the government lasts and no third party or issues should ever be presented. How would the republican party ever have had an existence if [illegible]? Anything more [illegible] can hardly be conceived.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

The Northern Pacific Executive Committee Sells $750,000 worth of St. Paul Property.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 2.

The executive committee of the Northern Pacific Railroad company has sold the company's real estate in St. Paul for $750,000. It may not be generally known that the company owned large holdings of real property in St. Paul, many years since at comparatively low prices, for terminal purposes. Afterwards St. Paul assigned ground to the several roads terminating here for the union depot. The Northern Pacific having no further need for the real estate alluded to offered the same for sale and at the meeting of January 19 last accepted a bid of $750,000. The executive committee has recommended that the proceeds of the sale be devoted to the cancellation of a corresponding amount of the first mortgage bonds of the company. It has been suggested that this $750,000 might be used for the construction of the tunnel on the Cascade division as the sum will about cover the cost of that work, but as funds have already been provided for that purpose it was deemed most advantageous to use the money for the lessening of the outstanding obligations of the company.

The report of the sale comes from New York, and the most careful inquiry of local officials fails to secure any further information of the deal. The opinion, however, prevails that the sale was made to the Chicago, Burlington & Northern company, which was trying some time ago to secure ground for yard room.

Mrs. Grant's Big Check.

New York Letter to Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Mr. Jesse Grant said on Monday that his mother had received her first check from the publishers on account of "Gen. Grant's Life." I have not seen the facts mentioned in the newspapers. "How much do you suppose that check was for?" "No less than $200,000—the largest sum ever paid at one time for literary work," he said. The next largest check he thinks was paid to Macaulay, a hundred and fifty thousand copies of his wonderful history having sold within four weeks. But I think Walter Scott, who was the idol of his generation and who wrote against time, death and the sheriff, is entitled to this second place. If I am not mistaken he received $200,000 from Constable at one time as his profits [illegible] and he earned $100,000 a year for nearly a score of years.

CITY DRY GOODS BUSINESS FOR SALE

On account of continued ill health, the undersigned has concluded to sell the Stock, Lease and good will of

THE CITY DRY GOODS STORE,
117 Third St., Portland.

Without exception the most popular Dry Goods store in the City.

The above business has been most successfully carried on for more than a quarter of a century, being first established by Mr. John Wilson, who retired therefrom with a large fortune.

To-day the trade has a large and firmly established trade, more promising than ever, securing a rare opportunity to my successor.

UNHEARD-OF BARGAINS!

From this date until such time as I shall have disposed of my business as a whole, I will offer to my old customers as usual my entire stock at retail at

FABULOUSLY LOW PRICES.

The goods must go for whatever they will bring. To close business is my object, and I shall do it in quick time.

T. A. SHANE.

Adjoining Fremont, Neb.

A Large Importation of Thoroughbred Percheron Horses and Mares.

74 head, ranging in age from 2 to 5 years, carefully selected animals of the finest type of the breed, all recorded in the Stud Books of France. The best opportunity to make choice selections from the largest herd west of the Mississippi. My horses have two strong points in their favor. They are already acclimated to the West, and being so, will do better service than Eastern horses for the first year; saving also in expense and risk of transportation. FREMONT [illegible] miles west of Omaha, Neb., on the Union Pacific, Fremont, Elkhorn, Missouri Valley and Sioux City & Pacific railroads.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE A A MCCULLY.—In the case of the steamer A. A. McCully, Whittier, Fuller & Co., libellants, in the U. S. circuit court Judge Deady yesterday issued a decree pro confesso and an order of sale. The court found that the several libellants and intervenors have valid liens upon said steamboat, as follows: For seamen's wages, John Kerrigan $307 50, W E Harris $147 [illegible], D. H. Kerrigan $43 8[illegible], Penn Short $47, S V Short $485 60, L W Benedict $1[illegible], J W Newkirk $128 05. For supplies furnished said steamer: Whittier Fuller & Co $74 88, D M Moore $20 10, Binger & Bock $1[illegible] 75, J H Jones & Co $46 6[illegible], C N Patterson $11 65, James Monks $102, Oregon Furniture company $198 2[illegible], Smith Bros. & Co $1 0[illegible]1, Morgan & Sowell $[illegible], Union iron works $86 70, Thompson, DeHart & Co $3[illegible] 96, Allen & Lewis $[illegible] 0[illegible], W C Noon & Co $[illegible] 58, D Shelly and W. Snow $60, Jos. Simon $42 75, Willamette iron works $[illegible] 48, R F Baker $[illegible], J Honeyman & Co $8[illegible] 57, H C Schmidt $203 [illegible], and by virtue of a mortgage on one-third of the boat, Theodore Ott $3[illegible]00 with interest. Said liens have priority as follows: Seamen's wages, material men, mortgagees and it is provided that unless the several libellants are paid their dues within ten days the A A McCully, with her tackle, furniture, etc, shall be sold by the United States marshal for cash to the highest bidder.

EXTENDING THIRD STREET.—R. L. Durham, C C Redman and E Campion, lately appointed viewers in the matter of the proposed extension of North Third street from H to North Front, have prepared their report, which will be presented to the council to-night. The aggregate amount of damages assessed in favor of the owners of land whose property must be appropriated for the carrying out of the proposed extension is $8,236 80. Some months since, viewers appointed by the council assessed the damages to the same property at $60,000. The report was rejected and new viewers appointed, with the above result. The city vacated the proposed street some years since in order to afford space for railroad termini, which has not yet been built and of the building of which the council sees no immediate prospect. The extension of Third street will reach North Front about opposite the center of Ainsworth dock, and would greatly relieve the pressure of travel on the upper end of North Front street. As the city vacated the street, some are of opinion that even $8,236 80 is more damages than the owners of the property are entitled to, but that amount is much more just than $60,000.

MORE WATER PROPOSITIONS.—Yesterday afternoon a regular meeting of the water commission was held, all members present except Messrs Corbett and Reed, who are out of the city. A proposition was received from the Stephens Springs water company, offering to sell to the city all their rights to the flow of Stephens springs for $150,000. [The first proposition from the company was to deliver to the city 8,000,000 gallons of water daily.] Two propositions were received from P F Morey. One was to sell the riparian rights of Bull Run river and to deliver to the west bank of the Willamette river in the city limits 12,000,000 gallons of water a day for $60[illegible],000. The other was to deliver 2[illegible],000,000 gallons a day for $750,000. In case the last proposition is accepted, Morey is to have the right to use all the water not required for domestic and city purposes. He to pay $1[illegible],000 a year for the term of ten years for such privilege. All three propositions were referred to the same special committee of five to whom the other propositions were referred. There was considerable informal discussion of the subject matter generally, and the committee adjourned.

SALOONKEEPER HEAVILY FINED.—The principal case on trial in the police court yesterday was that of Dave Girard, a saloonkeeper on the corner of Thirteenth and Q streets, who was arrested for permitting minors to enter and hang around his saloon. Girard has of late been giving dances in his place, running into the small hours of the morning and allowing boys and girls of tender age to frequent them—among the number Martin Smallen, Willie Daley, and others of like ilk. Daley testified that on the 23d of January he played pool at Girard's from 8 o'clock in the evening until [illegible] o'clock the following morning. Also, that policeman Kyne had on more than one occasion put him out of Girard's saloon. The smallest boy gave evidence of a like character. Judge Denlinger fined Girard $50, and hinted strongly to him that he was liable to lose his license. Girard made no defense, but filed notice, through his attorney, of intention to appeal the case. Girard, having been convicted of allowing minors to loaf in his saloon, has not already forfeited his license?

DASTARDLY ACTION.—Last evening, while Charles Fellows, the watchman in charge of the ship Director, lying at B street wharf, was at his supper, some one cast off a chain and rope by which the forward part of the vessel was made fast to the wharf. The bow line was not disturbed, but had the ship swung out into the wharf far enough for the current to catch her this line would have parted and she would have swung around, and there is no telling what damage would have been done. Mr. Fellows, as soon as he came back, noticed that something was wrong and, on finding what was the matter, soon made the vessel safe again. It is difficult to imagine who did this piece of deviltry or what they expected to gain by it. Several fellows were seen loafing around the wharf about dark and they were probably the ones who did it. The Director is in charge of the U. S. Marshal, being involved in a law suit.

EXPORTS FOREIGN IN JANUARY.—During the first month of 1886 twenty vessels cleared for Queenstown, Liverpool and Antwerp from this port. Seventeen carried wheat cargoes, aggregating 1[illegible]7,6[illegible] bushels, valued at $[illegible]; three carried flour cargoes aggregating [illegible] barrels, valued at $15[illegible],250. Here is close on to a million dollars worth of breadstuffs that crossed the bar in one month foreign, outward bound. The values of the cargoes that crossed in coastwise, steamers, etc., would doubtless aggregate, if computed, nearly a million more. These and kindred figures are what justifies the Astorian in asking congress for fair, just appropriations for the continuance of the work improving the Columbia bar, that the monthly two millions may be swelled to [illegible].—Astorian.

PHIL SAUNDERS INSANE.—Phil Saunders, a well known resident of Portland, was yesterday examined by Drs. Saylor and Bevan for insanity and ordered by the county court to be committed to the asylum at Salem. The cause of Saunders's malady is loss of sleep superinduced by intemperance. Phil was for a long time a special policeman in Portland, was at one time marshal, and served as doorkeeper of the house during the last session of the legislature. Latterly he has kept a saloon at the corner of First and Pine streets. Some six weeks ago he was taken ill from the effects of hard drinking and was sent to the Good Samaritan hospital. Saunders is 47 years of age, a widower, and a native of Ireland. A J Marshall has been appointed the guardian of his property.

PATENTS GRANTED.—Yesterday Peter Willhelm and M N Demmer of this city received letters patent, dated January 26, 1886, and running seventeen years, for their divided combination car axle. All preliminaries now being settled and the invention having received the unqualified approval of master mechanics and other railroad experts, manufacture of the axles will be commenced in this city without delay. It is expected that the first set will be turned out within a month. Should the expectations of the inventors be realized, and everything points that way, the manufacture of these car axles will be a big thing for Portland and for the stockholders of the company.

OBTRUSIVE CHINESE COLLECTOR.—William Turner, a news agent on one of the railroads running out of Portland, was tried before Police Judge Denlinger at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon on a charge of assault and battery on a Chinaman. The celestial went to Turner to collect a bill and during some talk about it, alleges that Turner threw a teapot at him. Judge Denlinger, after hearing the evidence came to the conclusion that the Chinaman in his endeavor to collect the bill made an unwarranted intrusion on Turner's premises and that it was a case of six of one and a half dozen of the other, so ordered Turner's discharge.

SMALL FORGERY.—Another case of forgery is reported, but the amount secured is small. The principal figure in the case is J M Hall, a school teacher, formerly of Powell valley, and the crime with which he is charged is that of forging the name of S Daniel, school clerk of district No. 40, to a check on the National bank of East Portland for $12 50 and cashing the same at the Commercial bank in this city. A warrant is out for Hall's arrest, but he has not yet been apprehended. The supposition is that he suddenly found out that he had urgent business in Yreka, California, and has gone to that place.

THE YAMHILL STREET SEWER.—Bids were received yesterday for the construction of a sewer on Yamhill street, from a point 100 feet west of Eleventh street to a point fifty feet west of Thirteenth street. The bids were as follows: Thomas Varwig, $1016 76; John Costello, $877 80; John Gibson, $871 10. As in cases of this kind the shortest pole knocks the persimmons, it is to be presumed that the contract will be awarded Mr. Gibson.

SWANS.—No less than seventeen big fat swans were displayed in front of a game market in this city yesterday. They are not so luscious as a canvasback nor so delicate as a teal, but it is said that when the family and hired help of a Sauvie's island farmer cut her around the festive board when there is a swan for dinner, there is not much beside bones left when they get through. Oh, there is worse muck-a-muck in the world than swan. The swan, like the red Indian, sings a death-song when his hold on vitality is being loosed, and there must have been a regular concert when the seventeen were killed.

RAISE THE LIQUOR LICENSE.—The great question which is now agitating the minds of the common council and citizens generally is how to raise money for the necessary expenses of the city for the year. If the council had not lowered the liquor license, they would not have been troubled on this score. The license never should have been less than $400 per year, and the council should at once raise it to that sum, which is little enough. It is not unlikely that an ordinance to that effect will be introduced to-night, and [illegible] there is hardly a doubt that it will pass. It should pass.

STANDING OFF HIS HORSE FEED.—The council adopted a resolution at its last meeting requiring Deputy Poundmaster Henry Wilmer to pay for the keep of his horse at the City stables. Mr Wilmer will state to the council to-night that he has been at considerable expense in purchasing meat for dogs he has impounded, for assistance in securing cows in gardens, buying nets, ropes, etc., and for shoeing the horse, which he cannot get along without. He claims that the horse has been used for city purposes, when not otherwise engaged, and hopes the council will not be hard on him.

ADVANCE IN MEATS.—Owing to the prices which they are obliged to pay farmers for cattle and sheep, wholesale butchers have advanced the price of beef and mutton 1 cent, making the wholesale price 8 cents per pound. Should the weather remain favorable and the grass on the ranges make a good growth, there will probably be no further advance in prices, but if there should be cold, stormy weather during this month and the next, it is not unlikely that a further advance will be made.

SOCIAL EVENT INTERRUPTED.—A social party was held on B street, between Sixth and Seventh, early last evening. It was a high-toned affair and enjoyed by all present. Supper was served at 8 and the police arrived at 10. The hostess first bulldozed policeman Holmberg, but when the majestic form of officer Ellwanger hove in sight she weakened and concluded that [illegible] In she went, and [illegible] $10 is put up. The charge is conducting a disorderly house. [illegible] convicted.

[illegible] GARROTE.—A young man [illegible], a student at the [illegible] in this city, reports that an attempt was made to garrote him Monday night about half past nine o'clock. He was passing the corner of East Park and Washington streets, when a man sprang in front of and stopped him. The stranger made a motion as if to draw a pistol and just about the same moment footsteps were heard, and his would be assailant [illegible]

CHARGED WITH TWO [illegible] INTENTIONS.—A Frenchman who gave his name as Morris Starr was arrested yesterday afternoon by officers Griffin and Barry, on two charges, one of assault and the other of threat to kill. Starr, according to all accounts, threatened a Frenchwoman named Marie on Taylor street near Fourth because she refused to live with him. Starr put up $[illegible] for his appearance to answer.

TO BE SENT EAST.—The remains of Charles [illegible] Dunning, receiving cashier of the Pullman Car company, who died Sunday, will be sent east to-day over the Northern Pacific to Philadelphia. Any friends who desire to look at the remains may do so by calling at the Delano's undertaking rooms before [illegible]. Escort will be given to Ash street wharf by the Masons, of which order Mr Dunning was a member.

[illegible], UNION COUNTY.—A reader of THE OREGONIAN inquired if there was a postoffice named Elgin in Oregon. The reporter consulted the last official postoffice list, and not finding the name, answered in the negative. But the official list of "Postoffices Established," bearing date of January, 1886, has just been received, and in this list we find "Elgin, Union county, Oregon."

ACCUSED OF LARCENY.—Constable Higley, of Justice Davis's court, yesterday arrested Quong [illegible] on a warrant charging him with larceny. Ah Sing is the complainant, and accuses Quong [illegible] of stealing $[illegible] in silver from him, and also two gold rings. The accused was released on furnishing the required amount of bail, and the examination of his case was set for 10 o'clock this morning.

SECOND BOND FILED.—In consequence of the confirmation of his appointment as postmaster here Charles W. Roby yesterday filed his second bond for $100,000 with the United States district attorney. The bondsmen are Van B. DeLashmutt, H C Leonard, Amos N King, Aaron Meier, A J Knott and John W Brazee, of Multnomah county, and A. E. Wait [illegible]

THE STAGE

THE CASINO.—The phenomenal success of "Iolanthe" on Monday night promised an overflowing house for last night, and the promise was being rapidly realized when the hour of 8 arrived. People were pouring in when the footlights were turned up, and Mr. MacCollin appearing before the curtain announced that owing to the sudden illness of Miss Brandt Hall it was feared that "Iolanthe" could not be given, but that the audience would be informed in a few moments as to what could be done. After a short interval Manager Thompson accompanied by Dr MacKenzie stepped before the curtain and in a few remarks expressed regret that Miss Hall was so ill that she could not possibly sing Phyllis—her part in "Iolanthe." Dr. MacKenzie substantiated this statement whereupon Mr Thompson gave the audience the choice of either hearing "The Mikado" or [illegible], or, if any so desired, to refund them their money, promising them that "Iolanthe" would certainly be performed to-night even though someone else had to be substituted for Miss Hall. The audience called for "The Mikado," whereupon Mr. Thompson, with characteristic enterprise, distributed gratis about four hundred copies of the libretto of "The Mikado" and the curtain was rung up upon this always pleasing opera, Miss Bebe Vining assuming the role of Yum Yum, Miss May Branson that of Pitti Sing and Miss Fanni Sanger that of Peep Bo. The remainder of the cast was the same as before. The audience was in capital humor and greeted the all [illegible] points with due appreciation. Mr MacCollin's Koko was as humorous as ever. Mr Branson's Nanki Poo and Mr Seaman's Pooh Bah were the same careful, well sung and acted characterizations, and the whole company seemed striving to atone as far as possible for the disappointment of the audience. "Iolanthe" will certainly be given to-night.

THE NEW MARKET.—"Strictly Business" will be repeated to-night. To-morrow night "Widow Bedott," in which play Mr Bishop made a great success all over the country. It is very funny.

Alice Harrison plays in Vancouver Friday night, and at Salem Saturday night, opening at the New Market next Monday evening in "Hot Water." Seats will be on sale at Prentice's [illegible] day morning.

LEWIS & DRYDEN'S OFFICIAL RAILWAY GUIDE

For February made its appearance yesterday printed in its usual attractive style. During the month just passed it has received a thorough revision and now most effectively covers all transportation questions that is to be of use to the business men and the traveling public. Among other things Messrs L. & D. present an autograph page which reads as follows:

To whom it may concern—We the undersigned have been familiar with the publication known as Lewis & Dryden's Official Railway Guide since its inception and know it to be a correct index to the entire transportation system of the Pacific Northwest and the recognized authority upon all railway matters in the territory occupied by the lines which we represent. It is indispensable to shippers of merchandise, as it will tell at a glance how to ship goods to any point in the Northwest. Signed John [illegible] Byrne, general passenger agent O. R. & N. company; A. D. Charlton, general western passenger agent N. P. R. R.; F. Campbell, general agent Oregon Short Line; E. P. Rogers, general passenger agent Oregon & California railroad. With this official endorsement as a backing and its already well spread reputation the Guide should flourish and grow like a weed. THE COURTS.

A Decision of Interest to the Mercantile Community—Divorce Case Appealed

Judge Smith yesterday gave judgment by default against T. J. O'Connor and in favor of M Wunsch & Co for $1[illegible]7 6[illegible], and against the same and for J A Hemerfelt & Co for $80 [illegible]. Both judgments are for merchandise sold and delivered.

Deputy County Jailer George Thomas left for Salem yesterday, taking with him Frank Payne, who stole seventeen pieces of underclothing from a Chinese wash house on D street. Payne got one year.

Yesterday the grand jury returned an indictment against Ah Quack of assault with a dangerous weapon on Li Shin. On January 4 Quack beat Shin with an iron bar.

Judge Stearns yesterday allowed a postponement of sentence of Lung You, the heathen tried and convicted last week of firing two shots about midnight December 3, in front of the Chinese theater, at Wah Ho.

DIVORCE CASE APPEALED.

Jacob Cline has taken an appeal to the supreme court in the case of Wally Cline vs Jacob Cline, being a suit for divorce recently decided by Judge Stearns. Wally Cline was given a divorce and one-third of the property. It is from this that Jacob Cline appeals. He objects to the division of the estate.

A PLAINTIFF BEATEN.

Some little time ago H Watkins, the butcher, sued W H Kinross in Justice Davis's court and got judgment for $12[illegible] 15. James Lotan went surety for Kinross, and an appeal was taken to the state circuit court. Defendant's attorney claimed facts sufficient were not stated to constitute a cause of action. Judgment on these pleadings and for costs were asked, and Judge Smith yesterday allowed the same and taxed the costs against the plaintiff.

OLD SUIT REHEARD.

A suit in which Wm. H. Musgrove is plaintiff and Jerome A. Porter defendant, was tried before a jury in department No. 1, state circuit court. The action was brought in the year 1879, and was to recover $500 in a cattle transaction. It appears that in 1876 Musgrove sold Porter a lot of bovines, a portion of which were to be delivered at the time in Wasco county, and the balance from time to time as needed. Some dispute arose, and the consequence was the above mentioned action. A trial was had some time ago, resulting in the plaintiff getting judgment for $500. Yesterday, on the second trial of the case, the jury found for the defendant.

POLICE COURT.

Quite a little amount of business was transacted yesterday in the police court. Charles Sinclair, charged with trespassing on the premises of Dr. C. L. Templeton, was discharged from custody by request of the complainant. James Carroll was arraigned on a charge of drunkenness. His honor remarked: "You have been here before, Carrol?" "Yes, for assault and battery." "Well, $20 then." James Lynton, you have been here on a previous occasion for having been full?" "Yes." "Ten dollars or five days." Lynton took the option of serving out the five days. James Burk and Frank Silva had an examination on a charge of enticing Michael Blake to desert from the ship County of Flint. The prosecution failed to make out a case, so the defendants were acquitted.

SECURITY DEED HELD VALID.

In 1880 W. W. Espey, the carriage maker, conveyed about $12,000 or $11,000 worth of property to R. H. Thompson of the firm of Thompson, DeHart & Co., and gave him a deed. Since that time Hazeltine & Co sold goods to Espey, and after a suit secured a judgment against him for about $1000. As they found nothing to attach they instituted a suit in equity to set aside the conveyance, on the ground that it was made without a consideration and was intended to defraud Espey's creditors.

The case was referred and the showing made proved conclusively that the deed was given to Thompson as a mortgage to secure him for notes he had endorsed for Espey and for money loaned. The case came up yesterday on the decision of Judge Stearns in regard to exceptions to the report of the referee made by the plaintiff's counsel and the motion to confirm the report by the defendant's attorneys.

After reviewing the case Judge Stearns said that in his opinion the pivotal question was whether or not it was a bona fide and genuine indebtedness the mortgage was intended to secure. Not having assigned, Espey had a right to pay first whomever he chose. It is claimed a mortgage is a notice to other creditors. It is equally or more true that an absolute deed is a notice. In the case of a mortgage and foreclosure there is a chance the property may realize more than the mortgage, but not with a deed.

Regarding the expression attributed to Espey to the effect that he had his property fixed in such a way that the creditors who let him alone would get their money and those who did not would not, Judge Stearns thought such a statement might be honestly made. After a careful review of the case Judge Stearns decided the deed was intended as a mortgage, and that the property is liable for the debt, for her, that whatever title there is left is vested in the assignee. Thus the report of the referee is confirmed and a decree was taken dismissing the bill. It is thought the case will be appealed.

The shearing season is rapidly approaching, and wool growers and many others are wondering how prices are going to range this season. There seems to be a better demand than at this time last season, and several sales have been made of valley wool at an advance of 2 to 3 cents over the prices of last season. This would seem to indicate better times for wool growers.

HIBBS'S STOLEN MONEY

Postmaster Roby Instructed to Turn it over to the Money Order Department.

Yesterday Postmaster C. W. Roby received the following letter:

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan 18, 1886.

SIR:—When Isaac N. Hibbs, the absconding postmaster at Lewiston, Idaho, was arrested in Canada there was found on his person the sum of $1[illegible]2 50 of money order funds fraudulently obtained by him. This sum, under instructions from this department, was deposited by Postoffice Inspector J. J. Murphy to my credit in the First National bank of Portland, Oregon, a designated depository of the United States. To the end that this money may be turned over to the money order funds I transmit herewith the certificate of deposit No. [illegible], issued October 1[illegible], 1885, by that bank for the amount in question, which certificate I have indorsed payable to your order. I have to request that you will please issue the duplicate certificates of deposit in money order account, for $[illegible] in favor of I. N. Hibbs, late postmaster at Lewiston, Idaho, and that you will send both the original and duplicate certificates to the office of the superintendent of the money order system in an envelope marked "special." You will then be pleased to deposit the amount of this certificate in the First National bank of Portland, Oregon, as surplus money order funds in the same manner that you deposit other surplus money order funds accruing at your office, and obtain therefor the customary certificate of deposit on account of the transfer of money order funds.

This certificate you will be pleased to transmit to the superintendent of the money-order system to the end that a check for the amount thereof may be sent through the treasury department to the postmaster at New York, N. Y., to be placed to your credit on money order account.

The First National bank of Portland has to-day been notified that I have endorsed its certificate of deposit to you and has been advised of the tenor of these instructions. I am respectfully, etc.

WM. F. VILAS,
Postmaster-General.

CAPTAIN C. W. ROBY, Esq., Postmaster, Portland, Oregon.

A SUBSTITUTE

We omit to-day the usual extended account of the meeting in the tabernacle on Tenth street and in its place give the following, which seem to us, and no doubt will seem to many others, to be more satisfactory religious reading.

PSALM LI

Have mercy upon me, O God, according to thy loving kindness: according to the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my transgressions.

Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin.

For I acknowledge my transgressions: and my sin is ever before me.

Against thee, thee only, have I sinned, and done this evil in thy sight: that thou mightest be justified when thou speakest, and be clear when thou judgest.

Behold, thou desirest truth in the inward parts: and in the hidden part thou shalt make me know wisdom.

Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean: wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.

Make me to hear joy and gladness; that the bones which thou hast broken may rejoice.

Hide thy face from my sins, and blot out all mine iniquities.

Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me.

Cast me not away from thy presence; and take not thy holy spirit from me.

Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with thy free spirit.

Then will I teach transgressors thy ways; and sinners shall be converted unto thee.

Deliver me from bloodguiltiness, O God, thou God of my salvation: and my tongue shall sing aloud of thy righteousness.

O Lord, open thou my lips; and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise.

For thou desirest not sacrifice; else would I give it: thou delightest not in burnt offering.

The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.

PSALM XC

Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations.

Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God.

Thou turnest man to destruction; and sayest, Return, ye children of men.

For a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.

Thou carriest them away as with a flood; they are as a sleep: in the morning they are like grass which groweth up.

In the morning it flourisheth, and groweth up; in the evening it is cut down, and withereth.

For we are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, our secret sins in the light of thy countenance.

For all our days are passed away in thy wrath: we spend our years as a tale that is told.

The days of our years are threescore years and ten; and if by reason of strength they be fourscore years, yet is their strength labor and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away.

So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom.

Return, O Lord, how long? and let it repent thee concerning thy servants.

O satisfy us early with thy mercy; that we may rejoice and be glad all our days.

Make us glad according to the days wherein thou hast afflicted us, and the years wherein we have seen evil.

Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children.

And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us: and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it.

The Stock Business in Idaho

Boise Statesman

Stock men report cattle and horses doing well in the hills. The snow has disappeared in the warm gulches and on the south hillsides and there is an abundance of green grass. Many stock raisers have not yet fed any hay and others who had their stock up feeding have turned them out again. There is a vast improvement in the cattle and horses now raised in Idaho over the stock raised ten years ago The native breeds are fast disappearing through the introduction of blooded stock It costs some more for thoroughbred horses and bulls, but the investment pays largely It costs no more to raise fine stock than it does to raise scrub stock, and the former, when placed in the market, are worth several dollars a head more than the latter Every year stock raisers realize this more and more, hence the great improvement over ten years ago The stock now raised in Idaho will compare favorably with the stock raised in many of the states

Marrian & Sands have a well developed claim on Cow creek, near Glendale They are running a hydraulic and taking out good pay.

Mr Henry Smith and E. F. Everitt of this place have a claim on Foo's creek on which they are ground-sluicing with good prospects

John Hall is superintending Hall & Bybee's placer on Canyon creek He is running one giant and making the best of the season so far.

All the mines on Althouse and its tributaries are running—some of them night and day This will be a glorious season for Josephine miners.

Simmons & Ennis, near Waldo, are running a cut from the Illinois river, intended for the purpose of developing their ground and getting into Shelly gulch

The Sardine Creek mines, owned by B F Miller, were this week sold to parties from Medford at a good figure. A hydraulic pipe will be put in at once

John Catching and sons, we are informed by a gentleman from that section, are working their claim near Riddle, and up to this time have taken out over $600

Messrs Mulkey & Gyer have leased Garven's placer mining claim on Wagner creek below the Walsh & Brag on quartz mines, and are preparing to work it extensively

A San Francisco company have about concluded to take out a ditch from Sucker creek, leading to a good paying bar on the Illinois, at the foot of Eight Dollar Mountain

The hydraulic miners are all well supplied with water now, and are taking advantage of it. At John Miller's mine on Jackson creek a force has been working night and day since the rain

Negotiations are pending for the purchase of J T Layton's placer claim on Applegate by a Chinese company of Portland. Sixty five thousand dollars is the amount asked by Mr Layton, and the mines are well worth it.

Last week Joe Scott, who is interested with N McNaff in the gravel claim on Rogue river near the Big Yank, showed us two ounces of excellent fine gold from that bar which indicates that if it was worked with a hydraulic it would pay handsomely

Messrs. Knapp, Brown and Hopwood are now employed on the tunnel in Timber gulch. It will be 300 feet in length when the old ledge is struck, and a weekly assessment of 1/4 per cent on the capital stock of the company, carries on the work Twenty-three Jacksonville men are interested

A Mr Carter informs us that he has made a good discovery in quartz on Jump-off-Joe The formation is decomposed rock, and as much as twenty five cents in gold to the pan has been obtained This find is in the vicinity of the Lucky Queen discovery, and may prove to be very valuable

Report says that a company of men from Ashland have "jumped" what is known as the Holman ledge, on Jackson creek, owned by C C Beekman, who holds a title on the ground from the government as school land, This is considered one of the most valuable pieces of mining property in the state and we would like to see it worked by some one —Sentinel

The Times says a Davis valley correspondent to the Times writes The Rogue River Canal company is organized, and the officers elected are A C Stanley, president; H W Shipley, vice-president F A. English, secretary who together with A. S Moore are the incorporators The capital stock has been placed at $100,000 in $50 shares The company propose constructing a canal and ditches for irrigating, milling mining and manufacturing purposes. The different streams have been higher and their currents swifter the past week than for several years but no cases of drowning have been reported yet

A WORD FOR IDEALISM

CORVALLIS Feb 1

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Although not overburdened with either time facts or figures I think I might with your permission whisper a few little things in See Bee See's ear Who ever heard of any one accomplishing anything without idealism from Saint Paul who converts the Gentiles to the crossing sweeper who sweeps his path clean? Why refuse the temperance reformer his ideal of a nation that has learned to forget the wounds that drink hath made

"Have a law When each man is a righteous law unto himself then and not till then can society do without laws because some infringe them Nay, it will perforce "multiply laws" at the same ratio that crime species multiply These people are not putting their cause on a "false foundation" While See Bee See is asleep with his eyes open, they are creating public opinion by educating and agitating, and it is we the people who will when the propitious moment dawns usher in the Prohibition day We the people of that day will be composed of the moderate drinkers the timid and doubting literary people and the educated who are "standing off" still while this darkness reigns I should not wonder either that they like the many who have been already marched over will cross the Rubicon leaving the "political party" behind to which they have belonged, The timid and doubting will gave some Aaron to hold up their arms The literary and educated will know that history is only repeating it self. Twenty years ago where was that party With Hans Breitman they will then ask, again Where ish dat party now? As for conflicting opinions what are mugwumps Do they conflict There will be some mugwumps there but they won't interfere. much and there will be protection and free traders the as now what's the odds But the Christian will sing with the good old Wesleyans

Let party names no more
Disgrace the Christian name etc

Neither should I wonder very much that this sturdy little homunculus "that the magician tenperance creates should grow to such a stature as that the two old men are afraid of him On bended knees they will cry only let us live we will do your bidding and you shall hold us down So there is a great gathering and blending and See Bee See and Herrick Johnson and J B Finch and anti whiskey and Dr Crosby all work hand in hand with your humble servant

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Please answer through your paper if within the scope of your knowledge if possessors of O & C R R lands are ever going to get deeds It is more than three years since I paid for my land (fifteen miles from Portland) and can get no other satisfaction from the company than that they haven't got a full board of trustees If that is the case when will they have it they did not for the last three years? Is there no way at all of getting a deed other than wait wait! wait

The above fleet all sail under the British flag. C Cesar & Co cleared 8 Gibson, Quackenbush & Co 4 Balfour Guthrie & Co 2 Portland Flouring Mills company 2, and Allen & Lewis 1—a total of 20 vessels For the same month last year 21 vessels cleared with wheat and flour None of last month's fleet carried salmon

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours 1705 ctls wheat 744 bbls flour 822 cs oats 830 sks potatoes 14 lbs hides 30 cs eggs 14 bxs fruit, 4 cs butter sks onions Also 3581 ctls wheat 200 bbls flour 2445 lbs hides 11 bbls butter from the eastern section

FREIGHTS—The Firth of Dornock iron 897 tons comes seeking and gives an open list of two iron vessels Of the market there is nothing to say At San Francisco an active business is reported by telegraph exporters taking up tonnage by reason of more ease in buying wheat

WHEAT—Foreign markets slow and easy buyers not taking hold New York closed about where it opened the lowest prices being at noon Chicago was lower until the close, which marked a gain no advance being established with the day's trading San Francisco holders are more willing to sell and shippers are able to secure needs at fair prices Here business is very slow the market is quite dull Having no needs shippers are holding back while sellers probably show more willingness to let go Values seem tending toward a slightly lower range and while $1 12 @1 [illegible] is now quoted a decline is generally anticipated

OATS—Receipts rule light The market is firm as last quoted shippers would do more if offerings permitted

POTATOES—Firm market with a seemingly strong undertone as San Francisco notes a slight advance Prices are such now as to attract sellers and a good business is done

POULTRY—Better request noted and arrivals of ducks and geese are increasing The Chinese are calling for more Values are firmer at the more [illegible]

EGGS—Quote 15c. Stocks are slowly being lessened and it is thought the market must soon admit of an advance

DR. VANMONCISCAR,

The Well-known SPECIALIST,

Proprietor and Consulting Physician of the only Private Dispensary on the Pacific Coast,

Now Permanently Located at

132, 134 THIRD ST, PORTLAND

Where he has in his employ a regular Chemist of 40 years' experience to compound all Medicine and Chemical Preparations now used in a Physician's Office.

DR VANMONCISCAR has made the treatment of Private Diseases of Men a special study and practice for many years. Over 4000 cases treated yearly. Recent cases of private diseases cured in a short time Ulcers, Humors and Blotches on Face or Body cured without giving Mercury or other Poisons. Mercury is the curse of the human race. Your children will suffer from its effect. Avoid it as you would avoid any deadly drug and use no more. These diseases are being cured at this Dispensary without mercury.

DR VANMONCISCAR is a graduate of a regular Medical College, and is well known over the United States and Canada by thousands of old and young men he has cured, and it is a well known fact that he has confined himself to the study and treatment of Sexual and Chronic Diseases, thus giving him advantages few possess. Dr. Vanmonciscar addresses himself particularly to those who have already tried various physicians and remedies from whom they have received no benefits, and who, in fact, have done them more harm than good. Medicine like all other sciences is progressive, and every year shows proof of its advance. By a combination of remedies of great curative power Dr Vanmonciscar has so arranged his treatment that it will afford not only immediate relief but permanent cures

Young Men who are suffering from the effects of youthful indiscretions showing some of the following symptoms Nervous and Physical Debility Impotency, Lost Manhood Abuses of the system Exhausted Vitality, Confusion of Ideas Dull and Loss of Brilliancy to the Eye, Aversion to Society, Despondency, Pimples on the Face Loss of Energy, and Frequency of Urinating. You may be in the first stages, but remember you are fast approaching the last. Do not let false pride and sham modesty deter you from attending to your ailments. Many a bright and naturally gifted young man endowed with genius, has permitted his case to run on and on until remorse and disease have finally claimed him as its victim. Remember that Procrastination is the thief of time. Swallow your pride, and consult one who thoroughly understands your ailment, and who will know your case and find permanent relief for all ailments that has made day a drudgery and night hideous. Thousands upon thousands of men in good standing in the social world of prominence in the world are to-day suffering from the fruits of their doings the seeds of which were sown during moments of thoughtlessness. Young man turn and gaze upon the companion or seek the mirror for proofs to substantiate this fact. Could he control the arm of Fate and had he his life to live over again, then I could not appeal to you more sincerely. Let your mind wander back to the much cherished counsels of a loving father and remember what you are to-day. It may be for the present fill your station in such a time is as inevitable as fate when your brilliancy will like a flash depart, leaving you a stranded wreck—desolate forgotten and lost, soon bereft of opportunity and enjoy life and happiness. If you claim to be a man act your part. Do not console yourself with the thought that Nature will help itself for in doing so you not only fan the flame but wreck Nature and yourself. Remember Large oaks from little acorns grow, "Little ills germinate fatal diseases."

Middle-aged Men, married or single who are prematurely old as a result of excesses or youthful follies and who are troubled by too frequent evacuation of the bladder often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and finding a deposit of ropy sediment in the urine and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear or the color will first be of a thin or milkish hue and again changing to a dark and torpid appearance causing nervous debility and loss of vitality. Remember this is the second stage of Seminal Weakness. In all such cases a perfect cure is guaranteed and a radical restoration of the Genito-Urinary Organs. All interviews and letters are sacredly confidential. Medicines packed so as not to excite curiosity and sent by express if full description of case is given but one personal interview in all cases preferred. Patients treated by case or monthly. Call early and avoid crowding. Office hours: 9 A. M. to 8 P M. Sundays 10 A. M. to 2 P M.
